 -->Long lines,parking difficulties, crowded spaces, time consuming, everyone knows the hassles of doing groceries at the store.These are therefore the top reasonsfor customers to do online grocery shopping.

Online grocery shopping is not something that can be offerd by every grocery store the corner,it requires high investment and logistics infrastructures.Many supermarkets do see the customer need for convenience and therefore provided a more digital environment in store.Ranging from self-service check outs to smart shopping charts with reai time feedback on promotions,recommended complementary products,sharing recipes and allowing to skip the checkout.Especially for fresh products, customers lack trust in employees choice and product quality without seeing themselves.While Amazon does let you choose between "ripe" and "not ripe" avocados, everthing else is a gamble.Lower cost is one of the reasons for customers to shop online.

Due to the low margins on groceries extra cost like; minimum amount of spending and delivery cost are charged for online grocery shopping.This has a negative influence on the customers decision to online grocery shopping.The next generation,the millennials,is ready! they are known as the first generation that is always connected.The high-tech,low-loyalty millennial shoppers will be the primary spending demographic by 2020 and their desire for consuming empowerment and control will drive the redefinition of grocery retailing.It is disloyal demands and multichannel consuming behaviors of the millennial shoppers that will likely fragment grocery retailing to the point that traditional supermarkets will become largely irrelevant.

CHALLENGES

providing with good products is a great challenge now a days with less price and more offers

The food is ending so we need to save our resources for our future generation so that They can enjoy the food

We can save our food resources by vertical farming and the products that we are providing are pure organic which are very good for our health

CONCLUSION:

We hope and we wish that this document will help you to understand about our minimalist but attractive project as I had tried something different from usual. We had used HTML CSS AND JAVA for designing the web page
